ABOUT US

Samaritan Counseling Center of Southeast Texas is a not-for-profit organization committed to providing professional counseling services and educational programs throughout Southeast Texas since 1983 to people of all economic backgrounds. The Center currently has seven locations including Port Arthur, Beaumont, Silsbee, Orange, Vidor, Jasper and Kirbyville. The Center is accredited by the Samaritan Institute and is a United Way agency.

OUR GOALS ARE TO:

- Provide accessible, professional counseling to individuals, couples and families.
- Make mental health services affordable and available to low-income families.
- Make mental health services available to women and children in crises situations.
- Provide services to the citizens of Jefferson, Orange, Hardin, and Jasper counties.
- Have licensed and certified counselors available to respond to the spiritual needs of clients and integrate mind, body and spirit in the healing process.
- Assist local congregations with their care-giving ministries.

THE SAMARITAN INSTITUTE - a not-for-profit organization headquartered in Denver, is the international office for a network of counseling Centers. Samaritan Counseling Center of Southeast Texas, accredited by the Samaritan Institute, is a member of this network called The Samaritan Ministry; it is one of the largest providers of professional counseling in the United States.
